Our trip to London

After seven exhausting hours we arrived at our youth hostel the "London House Hotel".

65 steps up to the 3rd floors we unpacked our suitcases and started our afternoon programme. We discovered Hyde Park, the amazing shopping centre Harrods and the Royal Albert Hall. In the evening we finished our day with a hot and spicy Indian dinner. On Saturday, after a long and quiet night, full of sleep and beautiful dreams, we filled our stomachs with toasts covered with salted butter and experienced our second wonderful day in London. The most fascinating attraction on this day was "The Changing of the Guard" that we visited together with millions of other tourists. At the end of Saturday we were faced to notice that London isn't that nice as we expected. The most dangerous place: Starbucks. Maybe Mrs Hausberger will meet a person carrying her bag with all her belongings on her next trip to London again.

The next day brought us many spectacular moments: first one pupil thought it was his mission to find out the temperature of Hyde Park's lake. Then we saw the exhibitions in the British Museum and next some of us took photos of celebrities in Madame Tussaud's.

The others met strange British people at Camden market.

The most wonderful view you get is 627 steps above London's ground at the highest point of St. Paul's Cathedral, the cupola. We celebrated our last evening in an Italian restaurant and went happily to bed.

The next morning we spent our last money and free time in the streets of London. At Salzburg airport, snow and ice were expecting us, 17 tired Tyroleans arrived, after five days of more or less sunny spring weather.

We all want to say THANK YOU to everybody who made this trip possible. Our special thank applies to Mrs Hausberger and Mr Matt, who shared these five long and wonderful days with us!
